believe that lifting of all regulations except point rationing would actually lower the price of beef. The price would most certainly be lower than that charged by the black market bootlegger

"The cowmen of the Southwest and the West are raising more cattle. They can increase this production further. Every day there is more meat on our ranches. Every day black market prices are higher. Every day more legitimate business men are being forced out of business and the conscientious law observers

"But all of this could be remedied overnight. One directive out of Washington removing all restrictions on the sale and processing of beef, except the point rationing sysem, would blast away the Boulder Dam bottle-neck.

KIVER development and flood control rank high on the list of America's postwar plans. Many of these projects call for dams which may also produce electric power.

This involves issues that should be discussed and settled now-rivers to cross in advance.

Many of us in the power business have had a long experience with riverside plants, in the production of both steamgenerated and hydro-electric power. In iairness to all taxpayers and in the interof the many million users of electricwe think we ought to outline our avictions and suggestions on river velopment and flood control.

i When a dam is proposed, all of its purposes should be clearly defined in the legislation-flood control, navigation, irrigation or power. And just as clearly, the benefit to the people affected should justify the cost.

2. If power is produced at governmentbuilt dams, it should be sold to existing power systems, without special privilege or discrimination. This will save the expensive duplication of transmission facilities, help to co-ordinate the entire power supply of each region, and assure its widest possible use at the lowest practical

3 Any savings made possible by this plan should be passed along to the users of electricity, under regulation by State Commissions or other properly constituted regulatory bodies. This will assure all the benefits of river development and hydropower without the added expense of government going into business and

4 Government in any business endangers all business. Government in business escapes many normal business obligations, enjoys free mail, pays no federal taxes, and few, if any, other taxes, little or no interest. If government can sell electricity on this basis, it can sell shoes, groceries, automobiles, or anything else the same way. Government may properly regulate business in the public interest but should not operate business. It should not play in the game for which it makes the rules. the Westminster college summer school faculty, gave Kiwanians a peep into what they may expect in the United States after the war, discussing various developments which will make living better and faster. His talk was interesting and nade a deep impression on the club membership.

Discussing transportation improvements, he stated that the railroads are planning finer passenger coaches with many improvements. which will make traveling more comfortable and faster.

Few improvements will be noted in automobiles, but better vision will be provided for the driver, he asserted.

In spite of predictions about air travel, he stated that it is not anticipated that there will be a large ownership of planes by individuals, Inaccessibility of air fields, and other handicaps will work against that, he believes.

Fast Air Ships Coming

However, there will be a great increase in air travel through commercial airlines. Rocket ships and bet propulsion planes will enable travelers to get to London in a matter of two hours from New York, and many people will be able to spend week-ends in out-of-theway places.

Rapid air transit will demand better cooperat • a between nations, but close guard will be kept against importation of dangerous disease germs through air travel, he stated. Television will be developed, already applications for 80 television broadcasting stations having been made with the government. He predicted that one could go to a theater and see a television broadcast of a big national football game, The walkie-talkie will be used on a large scale. There is a demand for a reduction in commercial broadcasts, he asserted which may bear fruit. The growth of commercial programs on the radio has resulted in an increase of radio advertising from five million dollars worth in 1927 to over 400 million

Millions Of New Homes Seen From Reconversion Plan

Predicts 15 Million New Homes Will Be Built In U. S. Next Ten Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 .- (INS) -The pext 10 years will see the construction of 15 milion new homes, a reconversion official pre-

Hugh Potter, head of the interagency committee on construction in the office of war mobilization and reconversion, forecast the greatest expansion of home-building the nation has ever seen during the post-war period.

Because of economic uncertainties and material shortages, however, Potter said, the construction program will probably be slow in geting started.

"We'll be lucky if we can build 500,000 homes in the next three years," he declared, but "once we get under way building will proceed at a considerable rate."

Potter pointed out that this estimate included all types of dwellings, multiple housing as well as onefamily units.
